MISS HELEN MINOR DORRINGTON

Miss Helen Dorrington, formerly of Missouri, "Queen of Occident," at Merry Celebration in Manila

A Missouri girl, Miss Helen Minor Dorrington, was selected for the highest social honor at the recent Philippine week-long carnival at Manila. She was unanimously selected "Queen of the Occident," and throughout the entire week was the sovereign of the greatest season of merrymaking since the American occupation of the islands.

Although Missouri born and bred, Miss Dorrington has lived in Manila the last eight years. With her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dorrington, she went to the Philippines when she was 12 years old. She is a niece of David A. Ball of Pike county, formerly a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and also of the Ball families of this county.

Letters from Manila say Miss Dorrington filled her position regally. Her gracefulness and charm excited the admiration of the natives and of visiting Englishmen as well, and she is now known popularly throughout the islands as "Queen" Helen.

The young lady is a slender, statuesque brunette, with finely chiseled features. A quiet dignity and charm of manner make her winning and attractive. When she descended from her throne, after the ceremony of coronation, her heavy trailing robe borne by six pages, accompanied by twelve ladies in waiting, her marked beauty and grace was greeted with spontaneous applause, in which Americans, English and Filipinos joined with equal enthusiasm.

The Manila carnival was a lavish holiday. British men and women from China and from English island possessions attended. There were athletic contests, balls, music, masquerades. The city was draped in bunting and flags. Homes were decorated with flowers and the streets were crowded with merrymaking and littered with confetti.

English sportsmen from Shanghai and Hongkong competed for carnival prizes in the athletic events. These consisted of golf, tennis and polo. The American athletes were successful beyond all expectations, winning each tournament, to the surprise of the visitors who had expected to make a clean sweep of everything.

The selection of Miss Dorrington for the chief honor of the carnival was conveyed to her relatives in Missouri in a letter from Mrs. Nellie Brown Seabee, which was received this week.

R. C. Brown, V.P. Union Savings Bank

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Union Savings Bank, held March 27, R. C. Brown was elected Vice President of that institution. W. A. Crockett, President, and M. R. Suggett, First Vice President left Wednesday afternoon for Hot Springs, the former to take treatment for nervousness, the latter for rheumatism. Mr. Brown in the future will give all of his time to work in the bank to relieve Dr. Crockett the President of some of his labors. On his return the Doctor will be found at his post, but will not be so active in the work as heretofore.

The Silkworm.

The silkworm, which spins or produces silk threads, was a native of China. For thousands of years the Chinese would not allow the eggs of the silkworm to go out of the country. About 550, two monks are said to have brought to Europe a few eggs hidden in their canes. Now it is quite domesticated and has been so long fed by man that the female is as nearly motionless as if she had no wings, and the male merely flutters without leaving the ground.

Saved Continental Army.

A striking illustration of the chances of war is found in the fact that the American army at Cambridge during the war of the revolution would have been left without ammunition but for the provision of John Brown, a merchant of Providence, R. I., and one of the family who gave name to the university at the place. Brown was a very wealthy merchant and was the first of the Rhode Island merchants to send his ships to China and the East Indies. Anticipating the war, he instructed his captains on the return voyage to load their ships with powder, which he furnished to the army when its supply had been restricted to less than four rounds to each man.

About 15 pastors of the district a number of local preachers and a good representation of lay delegates, besides a number of visitors are in attendance.
